Alexandria Gazette

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 10.

The Washington correspondent of the Hartford Times says:

"The most cruel treatment to Mrs. Belknap and her husband has come from their old friends and associates. Not one of the ladies whose husbands occupy official positions has called upon the unhappy lady, who has been a prisoner in her house through all these bright spring days. She is anxious to leave Washington, and will do so as soon as her hust and's trial terminates. It is not known where she will go. All of their revenues were suddenly cut off, and although they may have real estate, they cannot realize in these times. The future must look dark to them, and yet they seem to regard it more cheerfully than others do. Mrs. B.lknap wears mourning for her recently deceased sister, and gladly welcomes all who make friendly visits."

A chafing-dish has been invented in Marseilles which folds, in order to be conveniently portable, and which will cook a steak in four minutes with only lighted paper for fuel. It is to be introduced into this country.

THE ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER will soon celbrate its centennial year. More than three quarters of a century ago it grew into life a creation of wants and needs of the people of this section of Virginia.

During all this period its prominent object has been to advance the interests of the people of whose life it is the daily chronicle. Its fortunes have been their fortunes; it has shared their prosperity and suffered in their disasters. Its inspiration has been the desire to forward the best interests of the community in which it is best interests of the community in which it is located, and its own prosperity is, as it has been purposely made, inseparable from that of the community it aims to represent. When they grow rich it hopes for a reward commensurate with its labors. While they are poor it expects to work with them and for them, expecting to make their success the measure of its own.

Especial attention will be devoted to presenting, as well from original sources of information as from its exchanges, the news of Virginia, especially such as relate to the development of the resources of the State.

Its contiguity to Washington gives the Gazette an early precedence over all the journals of the State in intelligence of the operations of the General Government, now of such vital importance to the people of the South. The proceedings of Congress, seldom so interesting as now, will be regularly reported in succinct form for its columns, but all matters of especial interest in Virginia will be given in detail, and the full text of all bills of local interest will be given.
